EXPERIENCE

Greg has been in the construction industry with over 25 years' experience in commercial and residential construction. Greg started his career framing houses as lead foreman. His knowledge and work ethic, provided Greg the opportunity and responsibility of supervising new residential construction in multiple subdivisions, as well as heading up the remodeling division of the company. Greg started his own remodeling company specializing in both commercial and residential. Running his own company, allowed Greg to work closely with customers and contractors to provide quality work and customer satisfaction.

Greg's experience and knowledge as a building and remodeling contractor, enhances his ability to determine what is needed to repair structural damage back to its pre-loss state. Greg's communication and organization skills will assist in keeping the customer well informed and updated throughout each assignment.
