EXPERIENCE

Jared Verstraete brings nearly 15 years of experience in the construction and consulting industries, beginning his career as a project engineer specializing in metal framing, drywall systems, and acoustical ceiling treatments. He has successfully managed the coordination of workforce, materials, and equipment across 15+ concurrent projects, consistently delivering results that met specifications, stayed on schedule, and remained within budget.

As Vice President of Consulting, Jared applies his deep knowledge of building science and construction methodology to complex property loss scenarios. His collaborative work with major general contractors ensures that claims are resolved ethically and efficiently. Jared's leadership spans emergency response, mitigation oversight, and strategic coordination with carriers, adjusters, and municipalities. Whether managing large-scale municipal inspections, educational facility relocations, or disaster recovery for historic districts, he consistently prioritizes safety, business continuity, and stakeholder communication.

FEATURED PROJECTS

- Winter Storm, Oregon - 2024
Widespread freeze, fire, and tree-fall damage across residential, multifamily, religious, and government properties was managed by Jared during the 2024 winter storm in Oregon. He oversaw mitigation and repair protocols, coordinated environmental assessments, and negotiated budgets to reach agreed pricing with contractors. Balancing historical preservation with modern restoration needs, Jared's leadership helped reduce business interruption and restore essential services for communities navigating the aftermath of a severe winter event with accurate estimates valued at $5M.
- Storm, Jefferson County - 2023
A team of consultants, led by Jared, inspected and evaluated over 20 municipal properties across Jefferson County following widespread storm-related damage. His oversight included coordinating scope development, mitigation strategy alignment, and budget adherence across diverse facility types. Acting as liaison between contractors, carriers, and civic authorities, Jared ensured that emergency repairs and building preservation efforts were executed efficiently, minimizing disruption to public services and maintaining compliance with environmental and safety standards.
- Water, Golden, CO - 2023
A burst fire suppression line in the facilities engineering building triggered a major water loss, for which Jared served as lead consultant. The incident disrupted active learning environments, requiring immediate relocation of classrooms and expedited mitigation to preserve academic continuity. Jared oversaw abatement protocols, drying objectives, and coordinated temporary classroom setups across campus—all while managing construction budgets and NTE thresholds. His leadership helped minimize the loss of matriculation and ensured students could continue their education with minimal disruption.
